Art Unit: 1793

Applicant's arguments filed 1/8/09 have been fully considered and are persuasive. All prior art rejections have been withdrawn and claims directed to the joint composition have been allowed. However, in accordance with ex parte quayle, prosecution is now formally closed. The only thing remaining to do by applicants is to cancel the non-elected claims which are not in commensurate in scope (and were not amended as called for by the examiner in citations in his office action from the MPEP) with the allowed product/composition claims. Note that all method claims are directed to making a structure and not the joint composition and amendment at this point cannot be done under ex parte quayle guidelines. Applicants if they wished to rejoin had to amend during the active prosecution which was not done. Note that during active prosecution applicants were required to amend to a method of making a joint compound composition but they did not do so. Further, applicants are not claiming the structure as the product claims of Group I but a joint compound composition. Therefore, it is respectfully requested applicants cancel the withdrawn and non-elected claims 32-44 to place this application in final condition for allowance.
